The software for energy providers

As an innovative energy provider, Abacus offers you modern software to enable you to meet all market and regulatory requirements today and in the future.

All modules of Abacus are 100% developed in Switzerland and guarantee the highest quality. After more than 20 years of continuous optimisation, the AbaEnergy solution covers all functional and legal requirements of modern energy providers. AbaEnergy is used both by smaller energy providers with a few hundred meters as well as by larger energy providers with up to 100,000 meters.

Abacus offers additional modules in the areas of document archiving, electronic banking, e-business, maintenance and repair management, stock management, real estate management, checkout systems etc.

With the integrated Abacus Cost Accounting, it is possible to map business areas such as electricity, gas, water, telecom, heating, construction and installation services, energy services and real estate as well as organizational structures with divisions and departments. The legal requirements of StromVG, including the separation of the accounting for the distribution grid area from the other activities of the energy provider, can be elegantly met with the special division functions.

Since 1996, together with the St. Gallen partner company innosolv, Abacus has been continually developing the leading integrated solution Abacus/is-e energy providers.
